GRNC Alert 06-17-09:
Castle Doctrine Stalled in Committee – Act Now

House Judiciary I Chair Stalling

SB 928, “The Castle Doctrine,” is still being bottled up in the House Judiciary I Committee. Committee chair, Rep. Deborah K. Ross (GRNC 0 Star, Wake) continues her refusal to schedule it for a hearing.

Now is the time to turn up the heat and show her committee the light. Please use our auto-email to send a message to selected members and call Rep. Ross Thursday morning (if possible during that time window) between the hours of 9:00 am and 12:00 noon. Contact information follows.

Act now. We can see the goal line, time to push this one on in for a touchdown.

IMMEDIATE ACTION REQUIRED

- CALL Rep. Deborah Ross (919-733-5773) between 9:00 am and 12:00 noon on Thursday.
- Use our auto email link at: <http://grnc.org/alerts/autoemail.htm>

Deliver this message:

Dear Representative:

Rep. Deborah Ross, chair of the House Judiciary I Committee, is stalling about scheduling SB 928, “The Castle Doctrine” for a committee hearing. I urge you to use all your influence to persuade her to schedule it for a fair and honest hearing. It is too important that this worthy bill that will protect our citizens from dangerous criminals and abuses of the legal system after a case of self defense be passed into law.

The Castle Doctrine is an important concept that has proven effective in the protection of citizens in the number of states that have already implemented it. It is vital that you throw your influence behind the interests of the honest citizens of this state and allow them to protect themselves from criminals.

I trust that you wish to protect the lives and interests of the law abiding voters of North Carolina rather than enable the criminal element. I will be following your actions on this bill through Grass Roots North Carolina.

Sincerely,

A Concerned North Carolina Voter
